Minnesotans to “Fill a Bag; Feed a Family” and Stamp Out Hunger on Saturday, May 14

WHAT: The nation’s largest single-day food drive is taking place on Saturday, May 14, and Minnesotans can easily participate by filling a bag with non-perishable food items and leaving it at their mailbox. Locally, Stamp Out Hunger, which is sponsored by the National Association of Letter Carriers, hopes to collect enough food to provide one million meals to hungry Minnesotans. Just one bag of food can go along way toward helping a local family sit down to a wholesome meal.

More than 2,000 metro-area letter carriers will collect food donations on their regular seven-county metro residential mail routes and then drop them off at 21 participating Cub Foods locations. The food donations will then be delivered to Second Harvest Heartland, where it will help provide much-needed food for the one in 10 Minnesotans at risk of hunger each day.

WHO: More than 2,000 metro-area letter carriers will collect food donations on their regular seven-county metro residential routes.
