As one of the nation's largest, most efficient and most innovative hunger relief organizations, Second Harvest Heartland works to support those experiencing food insecurity in our region through partnerships, programs and policy. The board is responsible for the governance of the organization, setting policies and overseeing strategic priorities.

"I am so honored to welcome the energy and expertise of these community leaders to our organization and to the hunger relief network," said Allison O'Toole, CEO of Second Harvest Heartland. "As we continue to address COVID-era hunger levels, confront the racial hunger divide, and push for more equitable and accessible hunger-fighting policies and programs, we'll rely on our board of directors to ensure we're doing all we can, the best we can, to end hunger together."

About Second Harvest Heartland

As one of the largest, most efficient, and most innovative hunger relief organizations in the nation, we leverage our unique position in the emergency food chain to make an impact. In close partnership with a network of 360 food shelves and nearly 1,000 partner programs, we support those in our region facing hunger today. More than a food bank, we're a leading partner in the policies and programs that work to end hunger, like SNAP, school meals and senior nutrition programs, and we're an innovator in the areas where food can be the solution, like FOODRx and Minnesota Central Kitchen.
